- If several aids fall under the same maximum amount, the amounts for each individual aid will be aggregated until the maximum amount is reached.
- If amounts are provided for both renting and purchasing aids, amounts already paid towards rental will be offset against any later purchases.
- Only the actual costs substantiated by the presentation of bills will be assumed.
- Amounts exceeding the maximum amounts and limits featured on the aids and appliances list applicable to basic insurance will not be assumed under any supplementary insurance.
- There is no entitlement to benefits for aids acquired for non-medical reasons (e.g. loss, defective, wear and tear).
- The stated benefits are granted only if no social or private insurer, particularly federal disability insurance (IV), Old Age and Survivors' Insurance (AHV), supplementary benefits (EL), military insurance (MV), accident insurance (UV) or healthcare insurance (OKP), has an obligation to provide benefits.
